TEA Children's Books Catalogue presents a most wonderful selection of Estonian writers and artists who have dedicated their creativity and talent to the youngest of Estonian readers. Our selection includes the greatest names of all time favourites as well as new promising talents of the Estonian literary world.

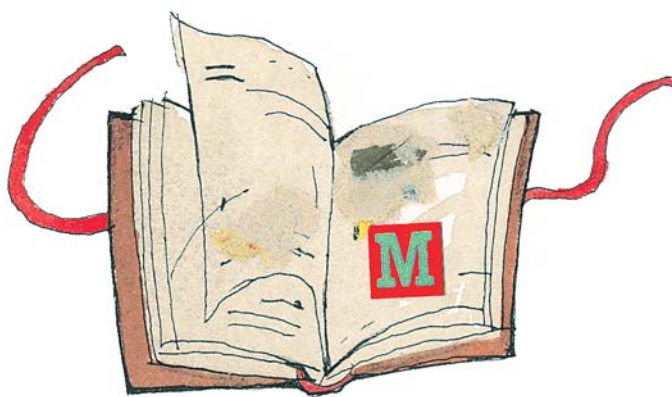

Covering simple matters of a child's everyday life as well as complicated issues of growing up and fitting into the outside world make many of these story and poetry books universal and interesting reading for kids all over the world. That is why we gladly invite you to search our rights availability for translation and publishing in your country.

We also share the opinion that knowing each other's literature from the very early age promotes cultural exchange and helps to create a safer world. In our catalogue you will also see titles, which we have translated from Finnish and Swedish languages and we are most willing to extend our good partnerships to many more countries in Europe and beyond.

Have a close look at our superbly illustrated pre-school books full of warmth and humour and the more adventurous ones for boys and girls over 10 years of age. The catalogue gives a brief summary of book, briefs on the authors, marks the age groups for each book and points out the ones which have become bestsellers in our country. We hope that you will enjoy getting acquainted with our authors and their stories as much as we have enjoyed publishing them for our children.

Sincerely,
TEA Publishers

The Golden Book of Russian Folk Tales

Vene muinasjuttude kuldraamat

"The Golden Book of Russian Folk Tales" is a voluminous collection of fairy tales and stories which include Russian folk tales, fairy tales from Russian writers and Bazhov's tales from the Urals.

Such heroes of Russian folk tales as Tsar Saltan, Tsar Ivan, Vassilissa The Beautiful, Ivan The Fool, the Sister Aljonushka and the Brother Ivanushka lead the reader to a wonderful and magical world. "By the pike's wish" and "...at my command" the odd things are born, here the furnaces are flying around, eagles become beautiful princes and frogs turn into clever tsar's daughters, here the goddess of the copper mountain wearing a silk dress is beautiful to look at but charmingly dangerous. Readers who are yet to get acquainted with Russian folk fairy tales discover an exciting and peculiar magical world where there is always a place for a miracle and spectacular events, where the goodness and the cleverness defeat the evil. The fairy tale creations of such Russian writers as D. Mamin-Sibiryak, P.Bazhov and A.Platonov have become classics of Russian literature. Aleksandr Pushkin have been inspired from Russian folk fairy tales and shaped them into beautiful verses.

"The Golden Book of Russian Folk Tales" is also published in Russian, entitled "Русские сказки. Золотая книга".
